from the PREFACE

The continuing friendship of Robert C. Pingpank since freshman year at Trinity College has sustained me, especially during those periods when one is tempted to abandon a dissertation and pour contempt upon all scholarship! His support and encouragement have been vital.

Acknowledgments. We would like to acknowledge those who assisted in our effort, who lent advice and encouragement along the way. To Wadsworth Publishing Company we are pleased to continue this joint effort and especially thank Tammy Goldfeld, our editor, and Kristina Pappas, editorial assistant to Ms. Goldfeld. Many advisors have stood in the background: We thank John E. Smith, Clark Professor of Philosophy Emeritus, Yale University, for his ready expertise whenever called upon; Robert C. Pingpank for his continuing supportive comments and help with the proofreading; Joseph F. Wassong IV for bibliographical assistance; and several colleagues for their suggestions, especially David Blitz (Associate Professor of Philosophy, Central Connecticut State University), Frank G. Kirkpatrick (Professor of Religion, Trinity College, Hartford), Stephen R. Morris (Assistant Professor of Philosophy, Central Connecticut State University), Jerome A. Shaffer (Chair and Professor of Philosophy, University of Connecticut), and John G. Troyer (Associate Professor of Philosophy, University of Connecticut).

The authors acknowledge with appreciation the 1984 Indonesian translation and publication of Living Issues in Philosophy as Persoalan-persoalan Filsafat by P. T. Bulan Bintang Publishing Co. of Jakarta. Indonesia has been added to our international readers in Guam, Canada, England, the Netherlands, Jamaica, West Africa, and New Guinea.

We discovered in Merrill Peterson both a production coordinator and a colleague.

The authors have not worked in isolation! We have built on the foundations laid by the five editions of Ethics For Today, first published in 1936. Ernest L. Rothschild was a chief guide for those editions and for this new textbook, a companion to Living Issues in Philosophy. Elaine S. Krause edited our writing, and Rachel Hockett took responsibility for leading the manuscript to production. Typists included Nancy Stack and Ann Wilson, who meticulously produced the drafts and final manuscript. We are grateful to Robert C. Pingpank for his assistance with the proofreading.
